FEES AND INVOICING

We calculate our fees on the basis of the hours spent working on your behalf. The hourly rates correspond to the level of training and experience of the assigned employees. As a matter of principle, we invoice exclusively for services rendered. The hourly rates vary according to the services and qualifications of the respective members of staff*):

|---------------------------------|----------------------|
| Tax and Legal Department | CHF 250 – 380 |
| Trust Department | CHF 120 – 300 |
| Secretarial services | CHF 80 – 120 |

*) For the prices for services, please refer to the "Services Menu for the Trust / Tax and Legal Department"

In addition to our fees, we charge an expense allowance of 2 per cent of the respective fee for telecommunications, photocopying and secretarial services. In addition, there are the actual costs for travel and accommodation when our employees are required to work away from home.

We will invoice for one-off services, such as clarification of work permits, social security and tax obligations and the like, after completion of the relevant activity.

Recurring work, such as preparing VAT returns, bookkeeping and the like, is usually invoiced quarterly, or monthly for more complex matters.

If a required task exceeds the quoted approximate cost level, we will inform our clients immediately. The final invoice for the services rendered is issued at least once per year, but no later than at the end of the mandate.

All quoted costs are exclusive of value-added tax (at the currently applicable VAT rate).

Invoices are due for payment within 10 days.

The containers are arranged in neat rows and columns. The ship is moving through dark, choppy water, with white foam visible at the bow. The overall scene is industrial and dynamic.

is to support and advise you reliably
